Special E Helps Las Vegas Conventions and Events Go Green

TimeWise, Inc., a local Personal Concierge firm has been retained to act as the exclusive Las Vegas representative for Special E, a New Jersey based company that specializes in rescuing leftovers from conventions, meetings, banquets, weddings, galas and special events. The rescued items are recycled & re-purposed in ways that help our planet & people in need. Materials rescued include leftover food, floral arrangements, recyclables, trade show giveaways, conference handouts and supplies, and more. Leftovers are re-directed to local food banks, soup kitchens, homeless shelters, churches, schools, hospitals, nursing homes, recycling facilities and various charities and relief organizations throughout Las Vegas.

The Special E service was developed in response to the growing demand from companies as well as individuals who are looking to make the programs they plan more environmentally-friendly & socially-responsible. With Las Vegas convention business down, in large part due to the public scrutiny of companies excess spending on corporate trips and events, the arrival of the service could not be more timely.

Special E's rescue service is currently available in 30 major markets across North America. For more information on Special E and the unique service they provide, please visit their website at thespeciale.com.
